Extraordinary Academic Regulation 2021/22: Invoking Fully Remote (UK) Study by Exception

This extraordinary regulation applies to programmes of study at RQF level 3 (SCQF 6) upwards (and their equivalents in Scotland) except A-levels (Bellerbys College and other excluded courses) across Study Group UK as listed in this document. It is in line with Covid-related UK Government advice and guidance<sup>1</sup> in relation to the provision of on-campus delivery of education and is to be understood in the context of local, regional and national public health authority guidance and instructions, particularly in the context of keeping students and staff safe and well.

Part A: Extraordinary regulation on studying fully remotely by exception

Where an individual student registered on a Study Group blended delivery approved programme indicates that they are unable to take up face-to-face learning and teaching (delivery) in their study centre (ISC or College) where this is required or offered, a process (see Appendix 1) of application to continue and complete studies remotely is triggered.

List of applicable programmes – applications will not be considered for programmes not appearing on this list.

All eligible programmes commencing prior to 01 March 2022 at the below centres:

- Lancaster University International Study Centre
- Durham University International Study Centre
- Royal Holloway, University of London, International Study Centre
- University of Strathclyde International Study Centre
- University of Sussex International Study Centre
- Cardiff University International Study Centre
- Leeds International Study Centre for progression to the University of Leeds
- The University of Sheffield International College

Foundation and International Year One programmes ONLY at:

- Bellerbys College Brighton
- Bellerbys College London

Note: application is open only to registered students who:

- a) are on a Study Group sponsored CAS/Visa
- b) either are unable to travel to the UK or no-longer wish to study in the UK

- c) are on a programme of study that begins at least two weeks prior to 6th April 2022, or date specified by individual centre or college.
- d) have undertaken a minimum of two weeks' study on their Study Group course (whether on-campus or online), and are deemed to be engaging in their studies at an acceptable level
- e) Application is also not available for students studying an International Year One in Biological Sciences at Leeds International Study Centre for progression to the University of Leeds, and International Foundation Year in Dentistry at The University of Sheffield International College.

Further, if approval for continuing studies remotely is granted, this cannot be reversed; that is, studies must be concluded remotely.

When considering an application, the Head/Director of the Centre/College (or nominee) must determine whether or not the applicant is able to demonstrate meeting 100 per cent of the programme's learning outcomes. This is demonstrated by meeting all the module-level learning outcomes via summative assessment.

If a claim for remote study is refused or a student refuses to continue their studies through on-campus delivery in the UK, then alternative regulations apply.

Part B: Process and Decision-Making

Consideration of the case will be undertaken by the Head of Centre / Centre Director (or nominee), taking into account each of the points in Part B, below. The decision will take no longer than two working days (in a UK context) from the receipt of application.

The decision must be recorded on the form, confirmed by signature and communicated to the applicant. Where the application is rejected, the student must be advised of:

- the reasons for the rejection;
- alternatives available to the student, for example deferred study; and
- a record of the case logged and stored locally, to be reported to Academic Office on a cycle of reporting determined by Academic Board.

This regulation applies only to the 2021/22 academic year.

Students when applying will need to evidence they meet one of the following exceptional criteria:

- Confirmed and sustained lack of SELT testing facilities in your location that prevent visa applications
- Confirmed and sustained lack of TB testing facilities in your location that prevent visa applications
- Confirmed and sustained delays to UKVI processing performance that prevent or delay visa applications

- A Travel ban that prevents entry to the UK, or departure from a specific country/region
- Confirmed lack of flights (or affordable flights) from your country for the foreseeable future
- Evidence of significant other personal circumstances that would prevent travel to the UK

Head of Centre / Centre Director discretion will be applied in terms of any decision-making, with each case considered on its own merits.

Appendix 1 is included on following page
